The Centre for Community Economics and Development Consultants Society (CECOEDECON) is one of Rajasthan's leading civil society organizations. Its early footprints in the area of disaster relief have eventually progressed into imprinting its presence in more than 15 districts across the states of Rajasthan and Madhya Pradesh. The organization has evolved, from a needs-based approach to rights-based approach, into a civil society organization focusing on economic justice, livelihood security, basic rights, institution development and civil society building, underpinned by integrated participatory development.

The organization has worked since 1982 towards Promoting Inclusion, making Communities Resilient, Empowering Women, Children, Smallholder Farmers, Landless Youth and Tribals with gender sensitivity as cross-cutting through its innovative interventions in areas ranging from Natural Resource Management, Sustainable Livelihoods, Climate Change, Fair Trade, Disaster Management, Seed Sovereignty, Land Rights, Health, Nutrition, Education, Women and Child Rights and Human Rights.

CECOEDECON's greatest strength has been its ability to adjust to the changes that are taking place in its external environment and within the organization. Based on these changes it has tried to evolve its Vision, Mission, Approaches, Strategies and Major Interventions at different levels.

The ANUBHUTI (Agricultural and Non-farm Utilization for Better Human Income and Training Initiatives) project aims to empower individuals and communities of 25 villages of Bhiwani district by fostering irrigation facility, improve infrastructure of school, availability of safe drinking water and support for farm and non-farm-based entrepreneurship. The project will focus on promoting sustainable livelihoods, economic growth, and inclusive education infrastructure for marginalized groups in a specific target area by creating awareness of health, water conservation, education and renewable energy for sustainable income generation in vulnerable community.
